Introduction

The report on the achievements of the National Centre for Human Rights is regarded as an attempt to monitor and document the achievements realised by the Centre during the year 2008. This report has been organised into ten fields consistent with the objectives and mission of the Centre, whether relating to the role of the Centre in amending Jordanian legislation so as to bring it into line with the international principles and standards embodied in the international human rights conventions, or to the protection and promotion of human rights, or to training and awareness-raising, or to building the institutional capacities of the Centre and of its staff. It is hoped that this report will present a comprehensive picture of the Centre's activities that may be used, on the one hand, in evaluating its work by reference to the objectives sought by the Centre and, on the other hand, in assisting in the drawing up of the Centre's future plans. Given that this endeavour is the first of its kind, it is open to development and amendment, and I therefore very much hope that the Centre's Board of Trustees and all those who read the report will not withhold from me their observations and comments, which will be taken as a basis for the development of this report in the years to come.

In conclusion, I should like to thank our colleagues Amani Hassouneh, Lara Yassin and Mays Al-Momani for their diligent work in preparing the report, and our colleague Muna Abu Sal for the design and layout of the report.

The Commissioner General

Dr. Muhyieddeen Touq

1. Legislation, Strategies and Plans

In furtherance of the objectives of the Centre, represented in following up the developments affecting national legislation relating to human rights and in working towards its harmonisation in a manner consistent with the international conventions and standards by which Jordan is bound, the Centre followed up work on the following legislation with the competent official authorities:

- Review of the draft Juveniles Law.
- The regulation on the licensing and administration of residential childcare homes.
- Study of the Jordanian Penal Code and its amendments.

- Discussion and analysis of the draft Rights of the Child Law.
- Discussion of the Protection from Family Violence Law.
- Participation in the legal committee for the review of the Medical Liability Law.
- Discussion of the Law on Temporary Employees.
- Participation in the amendments to the National Red Crescent Society Law.
- Participation in the drafting of the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Law.
- Discussion of the draft Public Gatherings Law.
- Discussion of the Societies Law.
- Discussion of the Labour Law.
- Participation in the formulation of the National Strategy for Older Persons.

The Centre succeeded in introducing a number of important amendments to certain laws, such as the Labour Law and the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Law, and continues to work towards introducing the amendments it considers necessary to other laws, such as the Penal Code and the Societies Law.

2. Protection of Human Rights and Monitoring of Violations

2.1 Monitoring of violations

The Centre conducted a series of field visits to a number of centres, juvenile care homes, homes for older persons and factories, with a view to inspecting and assessing the conditions of those facilities and monitoring any potential human rights violations therein, as follows:

- The Centre carried out (22) visits to correction and rehabilitation centres, in cooperation and coordination with the Office of Grievances and Human Rights at the Public Security Directorate, and issued a documentary report on each visit.
- It carried out (18) visits to detention and temporary custody centres, in cooperation with the Office of Grievances and Human Rights at the Public Security Directorate.
- Two visits to the detention centres of the General Intelligence Department.
- The Centre issued its Sixth Periodic Report on the conditions of the correction and rehabilitation centres in the Kingdom.
- The Centre carried out (9) visits to social defence institutions in order to monitor violations relating to children in conflict with the law, in coordination and cooperation with the Ministry of Social Development, to assess their conditions and to receive complaints directly from the children.
- It carried out (8) visits to places of detention and to the security offices dealing with juveniles; documentary reports were prepared on these visits and on the violations monitored.
- The Centre issued its Fourth Periodic Report on juvenile justice.
- Visits to homes for older persons for the purpose of ascertaining the level of the care services provided to older persons and assessing their conditions in accordance with the relevant national and international standards, in coordination with the Ministry of Social Development; (11) visits were carried out.

- The Centre carried out a series of visits to the qualifying industrial zones in the Kingdom with a view to monitoring the conditions of the factories and of the workers therein; these visits numbered (7).

- The holding of a training workshop entitled the skills of gaining advocacy for the rights of the child, during the period 28–29/11/2008.

This project resulted in the launch of the network of non-governmental organisations and civil society institutions concerned with the rights of the child (Eidak Ma'ee – “Your Hand in Mine”), in addition to the integration of young people as its friends and their training.

Second: The Sound Environment is a Human Right project

The implementation of this project began in cooperation with the Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID) in the month of May 2008, in the course of which 3 regional working workshops were organised (in the north, centre and south of the Kingdom), which contributed to building the capacities of those working in the various environmental sectors. The first was held in the city of Aqaba during the period 25–28/8/2008, the second in the city of Irbid during the period 12–16/10/2008 and the third in the city of Amman during the period 17–20/11/2008.

Work was also begun under this project on the preparation of a study aimed at:

- Developing a vision of the environmental situation in Jordan in terms of problems, challenges and national initiatives.
- Analysing national legislation and the extent of its conformity with the international conventions.
- Evaluating the initiatives relating to the environment currently applied and formulating future strategies.

In addition, work was begun on the preparation of an information leaflet. The project is expected to be completed in the month of May 2009.

Third: Project on combating torture in Jordan (Karama)

The implementation of this project began with funding from the Rehabilitation and Research Centre for Torture Victims (RCT) in Denmark, and in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice, the Public Security Directorate and the Mizan Group for Law (a Jordanian human rights organisation), during the year 2008, in the course of which a brainstorming session was held with a view to forming a national team to monitor human rights violations in the correction and rehabilitation centres. The implementation of the project continues until the coming year 2010.

Fourth: Opportunity for All project

The implementation of this project began with funding from the British Council and in cooperation with the Higher Council for the Affairs of Persons with Disabilities and the Landmine Survivors Network, in the month of March 2008, in the course of which the following was achieved:

- The implementation of three training courses on the rights of persons with disabilities covering three regions of the Kingdom (north, centre, south), entitled (support for the effective participation of persons with disabilities and the influence of the media), during the period 12–24/2/2008.
- The holding of a training course targeting the visual and audio media, during the period 8–9/6/2008.
- Courses were held to build the capacities of persons with disabilities and of the organisations working with them concerning their rights, the arts and mechanisms of this field, and networking, communication and advocacy skills: two training courses on (the integration of persons with disabilities) in Jerash during the period 20–22/10/2008 and in Irbid during the period 27–29/10/2008; two training courses on (the integration of persons with disabilities) in Amman during the period 22–24/11/2008 and in Aqaba during the period 4–6/12/2008.
- The preparation of two studies on disability: the first entitled “Disability in Jordan under the national legislative system and international standards”, and the second entitled “The media and disability”.
- The establishment of the Opportunity for All network, composed of 101 representatives of civil society organisations and governmental institutions.
- The establishment of 4 special committees for gaining advocacy and support concerning the right to work of persons with disabilities.
- The holding of an employment fair for persons with disabilities on the Arab Day for Persons with Disabilities.

The project is expected to be completed in the month of March 2009.

Fifth: Project of technical support provided to both the National Centre for Human Rights and the Jordanian Judicial Institute

The implementation of this project began by the German ICON Institute for Public Sector (ICON), with funding from the European Union and in cooperation with the Jordanian Judicial Institute and the Ministry of Planning and International Cooperation, during the year 2008. The project consists of the following components:

- Strengthening the institutional capacities of the Jordanian Judicial Institute.
- Developing training in the field of human rights among the graduates of the Jordanian Judicial Institute.

- Strengthening the institutional capacities of the National Centre for Human Rights.
- Awareness-raising and the promotion of human rights within the National Centre for Human Rights.

The implementation of the project continues until the coming year 2010.

Sixth: Refugees and Human Rights project

This project was implemented in cooperation with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees during the year 2008, through which the following was achieved:

- The holding of two training courses for those working in the governmental apparatus in the field of refugee issues and human rights: the first, during the period 7–10/4/2008, with the participation of (17) participants from the various official State institutions and the regular and military judiciary; the second, during the period 27–31/7/2008, with the participation of 20 participants from the various ministries, the civil governmental institutions, the military and the judiciary.
- The holding of a refresher course for the participants in the training-of-trainers course in the field of refugee issues and human rights for the current year, during the period 26–27/5/2008, with 11 participants.

About Us

The National Centre for Human Rights is an independent national institution enjoying legal personality under Law No. (51) of 2006, with financial and administrative independence and full independence in carrying on all intellectual, political and humanitarian activities and events relating to human rights. The Centre commenced its work on the first of June 2003.

Our Vision

The completion of the building of a society of justice and equality, the sovereignty of the law, the safeguarding of human dignity and the protection of public freedoms and the rights of citizens, in a climate of fraternity, tolerance and compassion among the members of our one great Jordanian family.

Our Mission

The protection of human rights, the dissemination of their culture, the monitoring of their situation, the provision of legal advice and assistance to those in need of it, the taking of the administrative and legal measures necessary to address complaints relating to violations of and infringements upon human rights, to put an end to them and to remove their effects, the preparation of studies and research, the holding of seminars and training courses, the management of campaigns, the declaration of positions, the issuance of statements and publications, and the preparation of the necessary reports.

Translator's Notes

The following observations concern the Arabic source document. Apparent inconsistencies in the original have been reproduced faithfully in this translation rather than silently corrected.

- Complaints table (page 8 of the original): the column “closed with a satisfactory outcome” shows a printed total of 111, whereas the individual cells in that column add up to 110. All other columns and the row totals reconcile exactly. The printed total of 111 is consistent with the percentage of 29.76% given in the accompanying narrative. The cell values and the printed total have both been reproduced as they appear.
- Requests for assistance table (page 9 of the original): the second column is headed “number of complaints” (الشكاوى عدد) although the table concerns requests for assistance. The heading has been rendered as printed.
- Requests for assistance table: the entry “rights of juveniles” appears twice (as the eighteenth and the twenty-third rows), and the rows for “the right to life” and “the right to property” are entirely empty. All are reproduced as printed. The column totals nevertheless reconcile exactly.
- Reports and studies (page 22 of the original): the Fourth Annual Report for the year 2007 is stated to cover the period from 1/January/2007 to 31/December/2008. This appears to be an error in the original for 31/December/2007, and has been marked “[so in the original]” in the text.
- Statements (page 23 of the original): two of the seventeen statements listed in the 2008 report are dated 14/October/2009 and 12/November/2009, that is, after the year covered by the report. The dates have been reproduced as printed.
- Library table (page 35 of the original): item 3 and item 96 record what appears to be the same title, “Attacks on charitable societies during the state of emergency”, with different years (2009 and 2007 respectively) and different publishers. Both have been reproduced as printed.
- The Arabic source was supplied as a scanned document without an underlying text layer. Personal names, institutional names and the dates appearing in the library table and in the participation tables have been read from the scanned images; the transliteration of personal names follows the most common English usage, and it is recommended that names, dates and figures be verified against the original before the translation is issued in final form.
- Institutional names have been rendered in the English forms used by the institutions themselves where these are known. Where an official English form could not be established, a literal rendering of the Arabic has been given.
- Where the original places a word or phrase between parentheses or quotation marks, the same punctuation has been retained in the translation.
